Location: Nottingham City Centre / East Midlands
Reporting to: Dr Kerensa Hocken, Safer Living Foundation Clinical Lead, (HMP Whatton) and Caroline Webster, Aurora Project Treatment Manager, (Safer Living Foundation)
Salary Range: £14.00 an hour
Contract: Up to 5 hours per week. Flexible working hours required (Evenings and Weekends / This is dependent upon referral intake)

Role Outline

We are looking for several Aurora Project Treatment Programme Therapists to deliver an innovative and new community based treatment intervention to prevent first time sexual offending. As the first of its kind in the UK, you will be at the cutting edge of treatment intervention and research; delivering sexual offence prevention groups and individual treatments where appropriate. This is a unique opportunity to be involved in delivering prevention interventions and will be excellent career development, offering training, clinical and research opportunities.

The Safer Living Foundation, Aurora Project, began running the UK's first sexual offence prevention group in 2018. The programme works with people who have not committed sexual offences but are having thoughts that if acted upon, would lead to a sexual offence. We are looking to recruit programme therapists to be part of this exciting project.

You should already be experienced in working therapeutically with people who commit sexual offences and be comfortable using a compassionate approach. The prevention programme will use third wave CBT techniques in which you will be trained. The programme will run on evenings and weekends so applicants must be prepared to work these hours. It is expected that therapists will work up to 5 hours per week with an hourly rate of pay of £14.

We are a fairly new charity and as the project develops, we aim for pay, and further opportunities to increase, depending upon funding that we receive.
